TRIAL BOARD'S FINDINGS Policeman Vermillion Fined $20

Private Geoghan Found Not Guilty of Intoxication and Charges Against Curtis and Doyle Dismissed.

for Gross Neglect of Duty.

Three reports from the police trial board ere given out last night. The Commissioners approved the findings. Private William Vermillion of the Ninth precinct, was found guilty of gross neg-ect of duty and fined $20. The offense was committed November 1, when he failed to patrol his beat between 4 and 5 a. m. He was asleep at the station. The charge was made by Sergeant Wall of the Ninth. The trial was at the Sixth precinct, on November 6, before Capt. Austin and Lieutenauts Swindells and Heffner.

Mr. Vermillion pleaded guilty and said he had been under a severe mental strain and loss of sicep. He felt sick at the station, sat down and remained too long. He arged in extenuation his previous good record and brought Sergeant Wall, Dr. record and brought Sergeant Wall, Dr.
Nevitt, Inspector Cross, Sergeant Barry and Sergeant Pearson to prove it.
Poheeman John Geoghen of the Eighth precinct, was found not guilty of intoxication. The charge was made November 1, by Lieutenant Pearson. Mr. Geoghan, he said, was "under the influence" at Ninth and E northwest, at 9 p. m., October 22. Geoghan was off duty. The winesses were Policemen J. A. Williams, Daniel W. Buyer and Edward McCort of the first precinct. The time, place and the first precinct. The time, place and board were the same as in the preceding case. Lieutenant Pearson, on oath, said he knew nothing about the case personally.

but investigated and brought it up. but investigated and brought it up.

Mr. Wilmans testified that he saw Geoghan nearly collide with a boy on a bloycle at Ninth and E at the time charged.
Policeman McCort, who was near by, remarked that Geoghan was drunk, and he thought so himself when he looked at him going up the street. He was six feet away going up the street. He was six feet away as Geoghau passed. Geoghau staggered and wavered twice. He didn't speak to the boy or anyone else. The boy cried, "main; look out" as he got off his wheel to prevent the accident. Mr. Williams was acting sergeaut at the time. McCort and Byer gave similar testimony.

Mr. Geoghau swore that he slipped on a banana peel just as the other men were looking at him. He had been on leave to have support with Mr. George Drew at bave supper with Mr. George Drew at Breitbarth's saloon with his friends. He had only taken one glass of porter. He was not in the barroom, but upstairs. His testi-mony was supported by Mr. Drew, who was with him on the occasion; by George Breit-barth, Daniel F. McInnis, and James K.

Eppley.

The charges against Privates William H.
Curtis and R. E. Doyle, tried October 9. 1895, each for conduct unbecoming an officer, were dismissed.

The specifications were that both of the officers named had on several occasions has summer used harsh, vulgar and disrespectful language toward Heary Gerhold and his wife, Rosa Gerhold, and that Cartis was similarly offensive toward one McGiacklen.

The trouble with Gerhold grew out of Sunday visits by the officers to his house.

Sunday visits by the officers to his house with a warrant for the arrest of a black by, named Wille Simms, and their in-sistence that another boy, named Wille Johnson, whom Mr. Gerhold had had in his employ for eight or nine years, was the one sought. Curtis is alleged to have gone into Gerhold's house in citizen's clothes and into Gerhold's house in cilizen's cotnes and "hollered" and, the witness said, "he went on at a great rate." Later they served a warrant on the complainant for fast driving, and made him dress in the area. Afterward, he stated, Curtis arrested him on the street, when he was quietly attending to his business, and charged him with dis-orderly conduct. Both these cases were dismissed when tried in court. The lan-guage about McLaughlin or "McGlachlen" was exceedingly valgar.

The truck farmers of the District, the adjacent countles of Maryland and Virginla and the produce dealers who occupy stands on the north side of B street, be tween Seventh and Ninth streets northwest, met in large numbers at Market Hall yes terday to protest against the order of the Commissioners that they should vacate the made by George G. Curtis, Mrs. Laura Donaldson, George A. Comly and others Bonaisson, George A. Comiy and others. The first meeting in answer to the call of this committee was held on last Thursday. Since that time the opposition to the order of the Commissioners has been rapidly gaining strength and yesterday 1,500 more names were added to the petition asking that the Commissioners revoke their order. A proposition was made, asking for the appointment of a committee to wait upon President Cheveland and request that he should take some launcilate action in the Fresident Covening and request that he should take some humediate action in the matter, but it was not indored.

The defeat of this proposition is largely due to Mr. Hugh Cosgrove, who, in a brief speech, showed it was not the desire or intention of the persons interested to override the Commissioners in the matter.

RELIEF WOULD SURELY COME. The farmers' side of the case had never been plainly put before the Commissioners, he said, and when it was, be was sure redief would be granted them. The Com-missioners, he said, were not to blame, and the frovement was gotten up, not so much to rid B street of the retailers as to more them where they would enhance the volume of some one's property. This view of the matter was accepted by the meeting and the idea of appointing a com-mittee to wait upon the Fresident was absorbined.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. The meeting was caused the feeding of the feeding of Cartis, who explained its object. There was such a thing, he said, as law in the land, and both rich and poor had to be governed by it. The people who had been holding places on B street for twenty five or thirty years, had rights, and would chain the said of the process. or thirty years, had rights, and would claim them. The law grarted an "adverse possession" from an occupancy of twentyone years, he was informed, and he did not see how these people who had held stands here nearly twice that long could be ejected.

Mr. J. H. Gillis, of Meatgemery County, Md. said that the act of 1857 permitted the use of fifteen feet of street outside the cirbing for the trafficking, and he did not think they could be disturbed. He advised that the people go to their representatives and show how they were being oppressed, and ask that they come to their assistance. He only believed in going to President Claveland as a last resort.
